

DentalCrossing Launches with More Than 2,500 Active Dental Job

May 30, 2008

DentalCrossing is an innovative job-consolidation website specifically designed for dentists and other dental professionals. By consolidating every dental job from every hospital website, clinical website, and other healthcare employer career page, DentalCrossing seeks to provide job seekers with every dental job in one place.

Pasadena, CA — EmploymentCrossing has unveiled DentalCrossing (www.dentalcrossing.com), an innovative job-consolidation website that is seeking to change the way dentists, dental hygienists, orthodontists, dental assistants, dental laboratory technicians, and other dental professionals find jobs. By consolidating every dental job in the market, from hospital websites, healthcare organization websites, and other job boards, DentalCrossing can potentially save job seekers thousands of hours of research when looking for new jobs.

The demand for dental services is continuing to increase. According to the US Bureau of Labor Statistics, dentists held about 161,000 jobs in 2006. The bureau also projected a 9% growth in the employment of dentists through 2016, about as fast as the average for all occupations. With the increasing number of older people and the advancement of baby-boomers into middle age, the demand for dental services has been surging. DentalCrossing seeks to bring every possible dental job opening in the nation to one location.

“There are so many dental jobs out there that job seekers do not know about,” says A. Harrison Barnes, founder and CEO of DentalCrossing. “The number of jobs on hospital and clinic websites far surpasses what most job seekers see advertised on most job sites. By bringing those jobs that are on employer websites to job seekers in the dental industry, we are giving them many more options than they would get with a traditional dental job search on other commercial healthcare job boards.”

In what is perhaps a reflection of the current dental job market, the most popular searches on the website are:

- Dental jobs
- Dental assistant jobs
- Dental hygienist jobs
- Dental hygiene jobs
- Dentist jobs
- Dental assisting jobs
- Dental office jobs
- Dental sales jobs
- Dental receptionist jobs
- Dental lab jobs
- Dental technician jobs
- Dental job openings
- Dental front office jobs

Barnes emphasizes that DentalCrossing is committed to finding new sources of jobs on a daily basis.

Press Release

“DentalCrossing is a research company, and our job is to find every dental job out there for people in the dental industry,” Barnes says. “We do not charge employers to post jobs with us, and we aggressively monitor the hiring needs of every healthcare employer we can find. DentalCrossing is a service that I believe will change the dental industry and how people find jobs forever.”

DentalCrossing charges job seekers $29.95 to look at its job-opening research. However, it is currently offering a free, seven-day trial to allow dental job seekers to familiarize themselves with the service. The free trial is available to everyone on the site’s registration page for a limited time.
