

EmploymentCrossing.com Offers a 7 Days Risk FREE Trial

October 10, 2009

This press release informs the reader that Employment Crossing, the number one job search portal offers a unique 7 days free trial. This helps its potential members know about this job search portal in a better way.

It is a fact that 85% jobs are not advertised and the remaining 15% are not known to most job applicants. This is something that even most recruiters don't know. The objective of Employment Crossing is to make sure that all kinds of job opportunities are advertised out here. As most jobs are waiting to be found by the candidates, Employment Crossing offers a risk free trial program of 7 days that allows you to access jobs on this most sought after job portal.

Employment Crossing features the largest collection of active legal jobs in the world. This is one of the numerous sites that offer a number of benefits such as the following:

- The commitment of the site is to provide comprehensive job service and advanced job searches for customizing as well as saving the job searches.
- You get to receive instant job alerts
- You can even subscribe to industry newswires
- You can create the perfect résumé with the help of the right tips and tools
- You can contact employers with a personalized mailing service

This is the reason as to why Employment Crossing is the top job portal of the USA and if you are a motivated job seeker, this is the one place to be. Now, why is Employment Crossing so unique you might ask? This is because the site has a unique business model that relies on using intelligence and efficient research procedures. The research teams are present and their job is to virtually gather every job board and employment career page everyday with the sole aim of finding employment opportunities for thousands of job seekers from all across the United States. The aim of the site is to continually monitor the hiring needs of 2,50,000 employers including:

- Government agencies
- Corporations
- Organizations
- Firms
- All Fortune 500 companies

The best of it is that Employment Crossing does not charge employers for posting jobs with them. The researchers are aggressive in their job opportunities search and this is why thousands of job providers are contacted everyday for posting their vacancies here, thereby adding to the already existing collection of jobs.
