

EmploymentCrossing: Collecting Up to 100,000 Jobs a Day for You

February 12, 2010

EmploymentCrossing is your "one stop shop" for every type of job under the sun. If you are seeking employment in sales jobs, computer programming jobs, teaching jobs, human resources jobs, customer service jobs, healthcare jobs, product managing jobs, food service jobs, law enforcement jobs, sciences jobs, and retail jobs - you will find your ideal position with EmploymentCrossing.

If you are lost in your job search and tired of the same old song and dance from job boards, then you have come to the right place. You shouldn't have to accept any job you don't really want just because you couldn't find something better. Why settle for a job you don't want when you can find a job that you will truly enjoy? EmploymentCrossing has built a reputation by serving the job seeker in the best way possible - finding them quality jobs and potential new careers.

If you are looking for "Compelling Daily Job Search Advice from the CEO of EmploymentCrossing" then you can read A. Harrison Barnes (founder and CEO) daily inspirational career advice. EmploymentCrossing offers updated job market news to ensure that you are current with your job market search news as well.

What makes EmploymentCrossing so special, along with the other Crossing sites, is that EmploymentCrossing lists what it offers and what its competitors don't on the home page. "Could EmploymentCrossing Possibly be More Different from Other Job Sites?" section will allow you to view what you are getting when you sign up with EmploymentCrossing and what you won't get from those other job search sites. EmploymentCrossing is straightforward and will not "beat around the bush" or give you a song and dance on what is offered.

If you are still unsure, you should sign up for EmploymentCrossing and then take a look at the "Top 101 Reasons to Sign Up for EmploymentCrossing." This should give you a better insight what to expect from EmploymentCrossing.

Need more? EmploymentCrossing offers uncensored, honest reviews of the site. People will display their displeasure if they want, but that doesn't seem to happen with EmploymentCrossing.

EmploymentCrossing's free trial is covered by a 100% satisfaction guarantee as well. How many job search sites offer such a deal? If you are not satisfied with your EmploymentCrossing experience, you are entitled to a full refund.

EmploymentCrossing updates jobs every single day - some days as many as 100,000 new jobs are posted. How many job search sites post up to 100,000 jobs per day?

When searching for a job online you are probably wondering when you will find a job that will meets all your criteria, e.g., location, salary and company benefits. You will probably spend hours searching and searching until all the jobs look the same. EmploymentCrossing has done all the work for you already because the jobs are but a few clicks away.

Press Release

EmploymentCrossing has helped (and will continue to help) many job seekers find their dreams jobs. If you are tired of the daily struggle that is searching for jobs you are probably not that interested in, then give EmploymentCrossing the opportunity to restore the faith you had when it comes to the job search site (but EmploymentCrossing is much more than that).