May 25, 2007

Pasadena, CA,—Professionals looking to advance their careers now have an easier, more comprehensive, and more accurate way to find the best job listings, thanks to the recent launch of EmploymentCrossing. As the dynamic new online partner of SellingCrossing, the ultimate job-search site for sales professionals, EmploymentCrossing is pleased to offer job seekers an extensive yet simplified approach to finding opportunities that match their unique career goals and interests.

EmploymentCrossing (www.employmentcrossing.com) features the largest collection of jobs on earth and now serves as the main hub for a growing family of industry-specific job-search sites, including SellingCrossing. Through EmploymentCrossing, professionals can search for positions at leading U.S. employers, including many Fortune 500 companies.

Job seekers can now visit EmploymentCrossing to sign up for a range of industry-specific sites, such as SellingCrossing, MarketingCrossing, AdvertisingCrossing, PRCrossing, BankingCrossing, AccountingCrossing, HRCrossing, TechCrossing, and HealthcareCrossing. With the EmploymentCrossing group of companies on the fast track to rapid expansion, more Crossing sites are set to launch throughout the year. These will feature numerous jobs in such industries as engineering, retail, manufacturing, biotechnology, hospitality, and transportation.

As EmploymentCrossing's staff of hundreds of highly experienced researchers extensively monitors the hiring needs of more than 750,000 employers across the country, countless new jobs are being added to the sites each day. And since the jobs listed on each site are industry-specific, job seekers can enjoy faster, more targeted job-search experiences.

"The launch of EmploymentCrossing marks an exciting step in the continued growth of the Crossing employment sites. We will continue to expand our innovative approach to helping more job seekers find the best opportunities in their specific areas of interest," said CEO A. Harrison Barnes.

In addition to providing an extensive range of job listings including exclusive notices not posted on other employment sites, EmploymentCrossing provides access to valuable original content, including in-depth articles and analysis on the people, companies, and stories affecting numerous industries and job markets.

The Crossing companies are now offering an exclusive 30-day, risk-free trial subscription, allowing professionals to explore the sites and begin searching and applying for any of the thousands of industry-specific positions from across the country at no cost.

The development of the Crossing employment sites has been inspired by the success of LawCrossing (www.lawcrossing.com), which features the largest collection of active legal jobs in the world, including more than 10,000 positions at top law firms, corporations, public-interest organizations, and government offices throughout the U.S.

Since its launch in July 2003, LawCrossing has become the world's largest legal-career-placement website. The company is another brainchild of Barnes, who also founded the hugely successful parent company of the Crossing employment sites, Juriscape, in 2000.
