

EmploymentCrossing Launches TeenagerCrossing, a Job Site for Teenagers

October 14, 2008

Pasadena, CA — EmploymentCrossing, one of the world's largest job boards, has launched TeenagerCrossing (www.teenagercrossing.com), a new site that caters to the job-search needs of thousands of teen job seekers. As part of the EmploymentCrossing job-site family, TeenagerCrossing seeks to list every job for teenagers in the United States in one convenient location. Using proprietary technology, TeenagerCrossing monitors job postings for teens on other job websites and from other sources to display every job for teenagers that it can find.

"TeenagerCrossing's goal is nothing less than to show teen job seekers every job available," says A. Harrison Barnes, founder and CEO of TeenagerCrossing.

"The recent economic turmoil and rising education costs have inspired thousands of teenagers to become self-reliant. Students are now increasingly concerned about how the economy is going to affect their futures. The threat of unemployment has made more and more students hunt for internships and quality job experiences to help enhance their resumes," adds Barnes.

According to recent reports by the Center for Labor Market Studies at Northeastern University, the nation's teen summer employment rate hit a post-World War II low in 2008, with minority and low-income teens facing the bleakest job market prospects. The report also revealed that the employment rate for the nation's teens was only 37% in June 2008, a decline of 14.3% from June 2000 and the lowest rate ever in the past 60 years.

"The overall job market is suffering, and teenagers are becoming more worried about paying for school. TeenagerCrossing is the solution to all their problems. The site aims to list all types of teen jobs, as well as to provide details on career advancement opportunities and employment information related to a variety of industries," adds Barnes.

TeenagerCrossing was launched to help teenagers sort out the opportunities that they might not find out about otherwise. Unlike other job boards, the site focuses solely on teen jobs, and it doesn't charge employers to post jobs.

According to Barnes, the most popular searches on the site thus far have been:

- Teen jobs
- Summer jobs
- Babysitting jobs
- Online teen jobs
- Student jobs
- Part-time jobs
- Jobs for high school students
- Volunteer jobs
- Youth jobs
- Jobs for teenagers
- Modeling jobs

Press Release

“There is an astonishing number of teen job openings out there. We want to find them all,” Barnes says.

TeenagerCrossing charges $29.95 a month to view its job-opening research. The teen job board also offers a free, seven-day trial to allow teen job seekers to familiarize themselves with the service.

For more information about TeenagerCrossing, please visit www.teenagercrossing.com.

Contact:

Mary Waldron, Editorial Coordinator

TeenagerCrossing

626-243-1821

maryw@employmentcrossing.com

About TeenagerCrossing

TeenagerCrossing is an affiliate of EmploymentCrossing, a powerful and comprehensive organization dedicated to helping professionals find jobs that will enhance their careers. TeenagerCrossing consolidates every teen job opening it can find in one convenient location. The website also offers a seven-day free trial to new members.