

Trucking Myths

Today you will find that there are many trucking jobs out there, even amidst a bad economy. The trucking industry is very important to the way the entire country runs, but there are many myths out there that keep some people from looking further into trucking industry jobs. If you take a look at swift trucking jobs or even jobs with other trucking companies, you will actually find that these jobs are not bad jobs. It is important that you are able to see beyond the myths to see that these jobs can actually be great jobs. Here are some of the common myths about trucking industry jobs debunked and some tips that will help you find the best trucking jobs out there today.

Common Myths about Trucking Industry Jobs

First of all, it is important that you understand the myths about trucking industry jobs and the reality behind them. Here are some of the common myths you may encounter when it comes to swift trucking jobs and jobs with other trucking companies.

Myth #1—You Are Always on the Road

While jobs in the trucking industry do require that you spend a lot of time on the road, in reality you do not have to be out there on the road as much as you may think. In fact, while there are many over-the-road trucking jobs, there are a variety of local trucking jobs that will allow you to be home each night as well. So you do have options; and even if you do choose over-the-road jobs, you will still be able to make sure that you get time at home with the family.

Myth #2—The Money is Bad

Many people have the idea that the pay is poor when it comes to trucking jobs. This is definitely a myth, and the real truth is that there is actually quite a bit of money to be made in the trucking industry today. If you are able to get one of the best trucking jobs out there, there is the potential to make a large amount of money fairly quickly when you work in the trucking business.

Myth #3—There Are No Benefits

Yes, there actually are benefits, although many people are not aware of this. In fact, you may actually find that the benefits that come with trucking jobs are excellent. So, if you are looking for a job with great benefits, swift trucking jobs may be a great idea.

Myth #4—Trucking Jobs are Boring

People who think that trucking jobs are boring have never been out there on the road. Trucking jobs are anything but boring. In fact, if you get involved in trucking industry jobs, you will find that it is exciting. You get to meet a lot of people and see a lot of countryside as well while you travel and make money.

Myth #5—The Work is Backbreaking

Sure, you are going to have to work hard if you have a job in the trucking business, but the work is not backbreaking, as many people think it is. You do not have to kill yourself on the road and you do not have to load and unload your own truck. So, while you will work hard, it probably is not as difficult as you think.

Tips for Finding the Best Trucking Jobs

Now that you understand the truth behind some of the myths of trucking industry jobs, you may be wondering how you can find a great job in the business. Here are a few great tips to help you find the best trucking jobs out there.

Tip #1—Build Up Over-the-Road Experience

First of all, if you want to land the best trucking jobs, you need to build up over-the-road experience. In fact, most of the best companies that hire out there today will want you to have at least three years of experience driving trucks. So, the more experience you have, the better jobs you will be able to land.

Tip #2—Make Sure You Are Insurable

If you want a great trucking job, you need to be insurable by the trucking company. This means that you will need to have a great driving record and you should have no felonies on your record. If the insurance company cannot insure you for a reasonable amount, you can guarantee you will not be able to get a great job.

Tip #3—Have a HAZMAT Endorsement

Having a HAZMAT endorsement on your driver's license can be a huge help when you are looking for the best jobs in the business. While not all jobs require it, it can definitely make it easier for you to find a great trucking job.

Trucking Career Feature

Tip #4—Check Out Driver Recruiting Manuals at Truck Stops
If you are looking for trucking industry jobs, one of the best places to look is at truck stops. Take a look at the driver recruiting manuals that you find there. Many will help you find companies that are recruiting new drivers and you can find a great job that way.

Tip #5—High School Diploma or Equivalent
Last of all, if you are looking for the best trucking jobs, having a high school diploma or equivalent is important. Companies like to see that you did graduate from high school and that you worked to get a good education. This can help you to acquire the top-quality trucking job that you are looking for.

EmploymentCrossing is the largest collection of active jobs in the world.

We continuously monitor the hiring needs of more than 250,000 employers, including virtually every corporation and organization in the United States. We do not charge employers to post their jobs and we aggressively contact and investigate thousands of employers each day to learn of new positions. No one works harder than EmploymentCrossing.

Let EmploymentCrossing go to work for you.